

Anyone can present data—I'll show how to also present your expertise

In one Presentation Power Hour, I'll sharpen your message, simplify your slides, and boost your presentation confidence.

Most scientists are brilliant at conducting research but are never taught how to present it.

I know because I've been there. Early in my career, I spent days working on presentations that my listeners didn't understand.

It didn't matter how great my research was if my audiences didn't get it.

I learned to cut the data clutter and focus on what really mattered. Today, people get it when I speak.

What you get in your Presentation Power Hour

$150

Sharpened key message

I'll ensure you have one clear, memorable takeaway to keep your content and your audience focused.

Simplified slides

I'll show you how to strip away clutter so your slides are engaging, not overwhelming.

Personalized action plan

You'll get step-by-step recommendations, so you know exactly what to amend and how to do it.

Session recording

Revisit the coaching insights anytime.

You'll get insights other presenters hear only after their talk, when it is too late to fix.

Yes! I want to share my research and elevate my reputation. Email sonya@science-clarity.com to get started.